ELIIU GREGG'S CASE.—The case of Elliu Gregg, who is detained at Waynesburg, Pa., as a fugitive from justice, being wanted in Preston county of this State for arson, will come before Governor Hartranst on the 3d of December. The Sheriff of Preston county succeeded in getting a requisition for the prisoner from Governor Hartranst, but Gregg's counsel petitioned ed for a revocation of the order, and the defendant will be detained until the petition is considered on the 3d prox. Gregg's counsel claim that he was kidnapped in the Slate of Pennsylvania when first tried and convicted, and was therefore never legally in the custody of the West Virginia authorities. Gregg was tried for burning the Court House of Preston county, coavieted and sentenced to death. The case was taken to the Supreme Court of Appeals and a new trial obtained. The second trial resulted in his conviction, and he was again sentenced to death. Again the case was taken to the Supreme Court, and pending a decision Gregg broke jail and made his escape, and was not caught until several weeks since, when he turned up in Waynesburg, after several years' absence.
